THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

For two years now the American people have tried to maintain friendly rtlations with Russia. If were a matter of Ameriacns communing freely with the Russian people, a friendship might indeed be established much as was the historic and binding friendship the Americans and Chinese enjoyed over the long years following John Hay's declaration for the open door in China. The Chinese friendship was further cemented by the American action in devoting our indemnity received as damages done in the Boxer Rebellion to providing scholarships for Chinese students in American universities.

But with the Russians, friendly as the are individually and grateful as they are individually for the foods, fats, ammunition, arms, planes, trucks, sent them during the war, friendship on a national scale is impossible for the simple reason that the Russians are not permitted fritndships outside Russian borders.

An iron curtain, aptly so named by Winston Churchill, hangs between Russia and the outside world. That iron currain is in charge of the politburo. This is a small carefully chosen group of seven or eight Communist Party leaders. This group governs the work, the lives, the speaking and the thinking of 180 millions of their fellow citizens. The politburo does not intend that Russians shall know anything about western demoracy. It will not permit friendships with ther nations, for the reason that such friendships might destroy tht usefulness of the Russians to the proletarian dictatorship.

To break through the iron curtain with radio programs, as is now being attempted our by State Department, is, we think, only a gallant gesture of enlightenmtnt on our part The fact seems to be that only trusted members of the Russian Communist heirarchy possess radio receiving sets. In time enough of the light of freedom might slip anrough the chinks in the iron curtain to start a few Russians thinking of the blessings of our democracy and eventually the mass might be levened to the point of rebellion against the tiny minority which holds them in economi and political slavery. But under present conditions so carefully planned and maintained, it will take a good many years, a century perhaps.

In the meantime the people of the United States are faced with a decision that may be one of national survival. We must choose whether we value our way of life enough to defend it, even though the defense calls for shoring up other and smaller democracies against the encroachment of Russian Communism. We do not believe, of course, that we stand in immediate danger, when we lend or grant money to Greece and Turkey in order that they may defend themselves against the onslaught of Communism. The Russians propagate their credo only in those countries which have been bled white by war.. They work with the dissident elements in every country but especially those threatened with economic collapse.

It is unfortunate that in neither Greece or Turkey have the kind of democracy that we prefer. The only thing we can do, under the circumstances is to support the governments they now have, because they are independent and do represent the kind of government the majority prefers. Later it may be possible to hold an election in which the people have a better choice than they have had. At any rate both governments do represent majorities and do heartily oppose ommunism..

President Truman's proposal to lend or grant Greece and Turkey $400,000,000, and maybe, more, is for the purposes of establishing a road block in the Russian march toward the Mediterranean. In our view, it is high time it were established. After that road block we may have to establish others. Korea undoubtedly will need one. China probably will have to be helped. It will cost lot of money and it will come out of us taxpaers. But it will cost far less than war, and in all probability will postpone war indefinitely.

The reason the entire matter of Greece and Turkey cannot be referred to the United Nations, is due to the fact that Russia has thus far blocked any effective implication of UN powers. She has used nine vetoes thus far, everyone of them designed to cripple the UN so that it cannot function effectively in this troubled world..

WORK OF F. B. I. DESCRIBED AT LIONS MEETING

NEVADA CITY: John F Tanner, Special Agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, last night addressed teh regular meeting of the Nevada City Lions Club at the Deer Creek Inn. The Lions voted to have a float in the Fourth parade and following remarks by Judge James Snell, agreed that the keynote of the Lions Fourth of July activities would be complete co-operation with Grass Valley where the Fourth celebration is to be centered this year.

FRANK KNUCKEY HEADS G. V. POLICE DEPARTMENT

GRASS VALLEY: Frank Knuckey is Grass Valley's new chief of police. Knucney assistant chief was eltvated to the post at a special meeting of the Grass Valley city council late Saturday afternoon.

The city council offered Ben Jenkins, who has been chief for several years, a demotion to patrolman, or his resignation. Jenkins turned in his badge. Knuckey will be formally installed in office April 1.

A city official, who did not wish to be identified, stated Jenkins was the cause of constant friction in the police department and the council was really faced with the alternative of dismissing or demoting Chief Jenkins, or having the rest of the force resign.

On naming Knuckey new chief of police, the city council instructed him to see to it that no slot machines were allowed to operate in Grass Valley. Knuckey ordered out the slot machines Saturday night.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jenkins and elevation of Knuckey, John W. Lewis, veteran of the late war who served in the South Pacific in the U. S. Marine Corps, was assigned to temporary duty as patrolman.

The resignation of Jenkins terminates approximately 20 years of service in the police department in practically all of which he was head of the department.

Chief of Police Frank Knuckey thanked the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night for the confidence placed in him, by making him head of the department last Satuday and promised the council he wuld give the city an "efficient and dependable police service". Knuckey succeeded to the post following the resignation of Ben Jenkins..

Carlos McGuire, city engineer, reported he was preparing data for including additional streets among those of "major importance," so that they may be eligible for gas tax fund allocations.

The council agreed to meet for an off the record conference next Tuesday evening for a consideration of several sites, suggested for location of the new proposed sewage disposal plant.

District Attorney Asks Sheriff to Eliminate County's Slot Machines

NEVADA CITY: Slot machines in Nevada County are out. District Attorney Ward Sheldon, acting on word received last week from Fred Nettell chairman of the county grand jury, has dispatched a letter to the sheriff of the county, and the police chiefs of Nevada City and Grass Valley.

The letter of the district attorney apparently had nothing to do with the action of the Grass Valley City Council in giving Chief of Police Ben Jenkins choice of demotion or resignation. The district attorney's letter was sent out Saturday afternoon and was not received until Monday.

The district attorney's letter to Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins follows:

My dear Sheriff:

Last evening I received telephone call from the chairman of the Nevada County Grand Jury, advising that slot machines are very much in evidence throughout the county. He recalls that the grand jury at its last regular session admonished the law enforcement officers within the county to curb all unlawful gambling and particularly to eliminate the slot-machines, and the grand jury expects that this order shall be respected.

Will you kindly survey the situation throughout the unincorporated areas of the county and if it appears that slot machines or other devices are in operation in violation of the law, take such steps as may be necessary to enforce the criminal statutes applicable..

I am writing a similar letter to Ben Jenkins, Chief of Police of Grass Valley, and Max Solaro Chief of Police of Nevada City.

Very truly yours,

WARD SHELDON,
District Attorney of Nevada County..

NEVADA CITY RED CROSS 10% OVER TOP

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada City Chapter of the American Red Cross met it's 1947 quota in the first ten days of the drive and by next Saturday will exceed it by at least ten per cent according to Robert Paine, drive chairman. The extess of the required quota will come from the towns of San Juan, Washington and Bloomfield where the colleltions are still going on.

Nevada City's generosity has never failed the Red Cross according to the 1947 committee. Dozens of contributions were mailed to the drive chairman and additional collections will filter in for quite sometime. The largest amount collected locally was in 1944 when over $10,000 was donated.

It is hoped that this will be the last year that large Red Cross expenses for an overseas army of occupation will be necessary.

Paine says that as usual 74% of all funds collected are spent locally through a Home Service chairman administered by a board of directors. Home nursing service is partially financed through Red Cross collections as summer swimming instruction. Most funds, however, are spent for proven needy assistance cases.

Robert Tamblyn, chapter chairman attributes the speed of the drive to the excellent work done by the Parent Teachers Association in the residential districts and of the Rotary in the business district. The Business and Professional Women's Club and the Soroptomists Club also gave excellent support in the early days of the drive. The Boy Scouts distributed pamphlets telling the 1947 Red Cross story to every Nevada City doorstep on the first day of the drive.

CUB SCOUTS KITE DERBY

OH FOOLISH DAY

April Fools' Day is a good safety valve in a care-ridden world. For a brief 24 hours, kids and grownups too, live in a pranksters' paradise, doing all that mores and inhibitions prohibit during the year.

National Laugh Week, headlined by Laugh King Bob Hope, Laugh Queen Gracie Allen and Laugh Kid Red "Junior" Skelton is being inaugurated with this April Fools' Day in an effort to promote light heartedness in a world immersed in somber thoughts.

On April Fools' Day, Open-the-Door Richard may find the door swinging wide, and fall right on his head in amazement; Marshall and Molotov may exchange loaded cigars without precipitating an international incident—and dozens of nice old ladies will try to pick up purses left conveniently in their path only to have them suddenly disappear. Anything can happen.

We hope the world gets a laugh; it needs it!—Contributed.

IMITATION OF DEMOCRACY

Through uninhibited appropriation of the ideas of other nations, the Japanese became the most fruitful industrial imitators in history, if not the most successful. Now they are apparently going overboard to imitate American democracy.

Next month Japan will vote in the same manner America votes. One million candidates—a bewildering total—are vying for public posts ranging from membership in local assemblies to seats in the diet. There are so many candidates for each job that the voting will have to be done in five "waves" each five days apart.

At first thought, this democratic orgy might seem too extravagant an experiment in democracy to produce the best results. But General MacArthur reports that insofar as th framework of democracy can be laid down in Japan, the task has been accomplished..

Of course, as the general points out, democracy is a process of continued growth, and is not achieved overnight. Yet he finds the framework satisfactory, and is ready to recommend that the military occupation of Japan end as soon as a peace treaty is drawn. Militarily, the general observes, Japan is impotent. Democratically, she is accepting ballot box rule. Economically she is destitute and must be given a chance to work herself out of the depths without armed overseers.

The million candidate Japanese election carries a humorous Gilbert and Sullivan flavor to most American onlookers. But the transition from imitation to real understanding of the thing imitated is a big step and the Japanese are at least showing a willingness to try it.—Contributed.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE UNDER WAY

NEVADA CITY: The Salvation Army drive for funds opened in this city Monday. The goal this year is $1500. Campaign manager is Harry Clayton.

The business district will be canvassed early this week and letters addressed to residents are being made in a general appeal.

"If the average citizen could see," said Clayton, "actual cases in which the Salvation Army assists, the funds raised each year could easily be tripled. The problem of reconstructing the life of a family including several children, is something that would readily open the purse strings of all Americans."

GARDEN CLUB DISCUSSES DAFFODILS

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada City Garden Club metting March 20th in home of Mrs. Pauline Stevens, used the Easter theme in its decorative scheme with an ivory colored bowl filled with daffodils and ivory candle holders for green candles on the luncheon table.

A friend in Chico, sent a collection of 30 varieties of daffodils, all named. The blooms brought by club members compared in beauty, size but there was not the large variety of those from Chico.

Miss Gertrude Goyne who has a lovely garden of spring bulb plants gave an informative talk on the method of cultivating and caring for bulbs, especially the care to be used in dividing and replanting. Several members reported exellent results in growing camelias. The anniversary of the club will be celebrated next month.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Apple Tree Versus Wheat Field

If you ever visit Jeb Crowell's farm, he'll take you right out on that back porch of his and show you his apple tree.

"There," says Jeb, "is nature's noblest creation—fifty years, and bearin' still the finest cider apples in the county!"

But last fall, when a group of us was there, Lud Denny points across the river to his grain fields and says: "There's an even finer sight! Acres and acres of golden grain you can make dozens of appetizing things with—including wholesome, sparkling beer."

Both of them got so eloquent on the subject, that the rest of us worked up quite a thirst; so Jeb goes to the icebox for beer and cider. And when the refreshments come, Lud chooses cider, and Jeb takes the beer!

From where I sit, that's the answer to most disputes. You can talk all you want, but when it comes to tastes and preferences, there's just no argument.

NEVADA CITY LONG AGO

FLOY MARGARET REYNOLDS

20 YEARS AGO

An interesting conference of rural school teachers was held in the supervisors chambers at the court house and presided over by Miss Irene Burns. Methods of teaching English and composition were ably discussed by Miss Lucille Marsh, Miss C. Ferguson and Miss Esther Tremaine. Others attending were Misses Rose Pardini, Florence Quick, Velma Lambert, Carmel Reader, Therese O'Connor, Lydia McDonald, Mary McDonald, Lucretia Hall, Genevieve Kent and Mesdames Schwartz, M. Wilson, C. Jones and Alice White.

William C. Jeffrey was elected delegate to the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias at Santa Cruz from Mill Lodge No. 48, James B. Young was named as alternate.

E. M. Lewis was taking a two weeks vacation from his duties as local manager of the telegraph office. His place was being filled by John Rehn of San Francisco.

50 YEARS AGO

There was considerable activity in house building. On Sacramento Street Mrs. H. C. Mills was erecting a neat cottage and J. W. Brace was planning to build two small dwellings in the same locality. On Piety Hill three houses were to be put for Messrs. Watters, Gassaway and Pollard. The fsame work of A. R. Morrison's new house on Piety Hill was completed..

A debt of $1300 hanging over the Methodist Church for rebuilding the edifice after it was badly damaged by fire three years earlier was completely wiped out by subscriptions following a fervent appeal made at the conclusion of a sermon, delivered by Rev. Dr. Delle of San Francisco, guest speaker, Rev. A. J. Needham, presiding elder for this district was also present.

George L. Hughes well known attorney of this city was married in Fresno to Miss Englebright, a sister of W. F. Englebright. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were to make their home in this city in the house formerly occupied by David Muir near the court house.

ANNA LUCASTA PLAYS IN SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO: Bolstered by a three year run in New York and year in Chicago Anna Lucasa the dramatic delight by Philip Yordan, will under the aegis of John Wildberg, have its local bapstism at the Sacramento College Auditorium, Freeport Boulevard, Sacramento, March 26 and 27.

John Wildberg has called the best players from New York and Chicago companies to present Anna Lucasta on the west coast. The cast embraces Ro Allen, Laura Bowman, Alice Childers, Alvin Childress, Warren Coleman, Ossie Davis, Ruby Dee, Kenneth Freeman, Monte Hawley, Inge Hardison, John Tate, Lance Taylor, Edith Whiteman and Frank Wilson. Harry Wagstaff Gribble is credited with the direction.

The play satirizes with lusty comedy overtones the larruping Lucasa family which sprouts to uncanny heights when one, Rudolph a native southerner seeks hospitality at their Pennsylvania abode. The Lucastas set out to scheme, cajole nay even atomize, Rudolph, whose pockets bulge with eight hundred greenbacks—a vertable king s ransom to the greedy voracious eyed Negroes. When they hear that Rudolph is seeking matrimony they even transgress to the wayward oint of pairing them with their sister Anna a beautiful wench of scarlet hue.

Anna Lucasta will be shown locally for two evening performances. Tickets are available at the Ware-Hazelton box office at Weinstock-Lubin's.

ENGLE INTRODUCES AN ANTI-BEETLE BILL

WASHINGTON: Rep. Clair Engle has introduced a bill to establish a cooperative pogram to combat pine bark beetles and other destructive insects now causing heavy damage to forest resources.

Insect control is now by necessity largely confined to federally owned forests but under the congressman's measure the programs could be expanded to include those areas under state and private ownership. A specific appropriation to carry out the program is not requested in the bill.

"Our forest resources are being seriously threatened by the pine bark beetle and similar pests and unless action on a long range control program is taken immediately the situation may become hopelessly out of hand" Engle asserted.

The congressman pointed out that in the ponderosa pine belt in California, Oregon and Washington approximately 16 billion board feet of commercial timber was destroyed by the bak beetle from 1932 to 1940. During a similar period fires destroyed around one billion feet. He added that much of the destruction was sustained in northen California, and that comparable losses are continuing.

Engle said a group of western representatives and senators will soon go before a house appropriation committee to request funds for current insect research and control work conducted by the department of agriculture..

BROAD STREET

By Harley M. Leete, Jr.

You can't tell me our Tale of the Week doesn't have a point — it's about a porcupine flushed by Ed Addington, the owner of the Castle. The Castle is Prospect Hill's rococo architectural monument, and Addington is nightwatchman at the Lava Cap Mine. While making his rounds in the dead of night awhile ago, Ed came upon a giant porcupine. The beast stood 16 inches tall bare-foted and looked like it weighed 40 pounds, though Ed didn't heft it to make sure.

Anyhow, the moral of this story is that Ed is a brave man. He goes on his rounds without any dogs to protect him from the ravening animals of Banner Ridge, while his companion watchman, Ivan Labron and Tom Leehy are escorted by watchdogs.

Porcupines have a habit of girdling young pine trees to eat the inner bark. Since this kills the trees, the forest service will probably view with pleasure our friend Ed's yeoman work with the 2 by 4. Last summer forest crewmen killed 600 porcupines, by setting out poisoned salt in boxes set so high that deer or cattle couldn't get it.

Monday afternoon, the much talked about Pioneer Park was a scene of solid activity. Elmer Fisher, the excavating contractor, was busy with a crew of three men over in the north orner of the baseball field leveling fill. Fischer's men were using a tractor and bull dozer. A couple of men from the city street crew arrived to work on the brush and drainage situation. Manny Penrose, dean of Nevada City handy men, was hard at wok striping the bark off logs. The logs were from trees felled to clear the ball field and will be used as sppports for the bleachers. Manny said the bark was sticking awfull close to the logs, said he'd told 'em he'd oughta get at those logs soon's they were felled. The big thing about the work on the park seemed to be that it was going to go forward until the city's "park" money ran out, and it wasn't expected to take long.

Another angle on the parking meters. If you've got a central downtown business location , a town with no parking meters, traffic jams can deprive you of a lot of the value of your central situation. Good point.

From Aristocracy Hill, no less, a Nugget reader wishes a word to be said in print about the lack of signs around town. Seems as how a stranger may be looking for the Gillet Nursery and end up in Hirschmann's Diggings, with some of those dull catfish staring him in the face. A while ago, a chap named Walling made a lot of rustic signs for the town. but Walling's batch has suffered the peculiarly diverse group of fates for which signs are destined..

This old demon flu certainly did rampage through our towns. You'd be talking to a fellow one day and he'd be complaining how he felt like he was dying and, sure enough, next day he'd be down with influenza. Here at the Nugget, all six of us got it,, one right after another, just about three days apart. Lightest case fas weathered by The Boss, who merely battled and beat a slight cold..

EMPIRE STAR NET LOSS LAST YEAR $274,953

GRASS VALLEY: Shareholders in the Empire Star Mines Company Ltd. learned in the annual report just issued that the company sustained a net operating loss of $274,953 in 1946.

This is the figure of loss after crediting 8411 ounces of gold and minor amount of silver, produced during 1946. Total cost of operation and maintenance for the year was $545,959.

The report states: "Under the most trying conditions, the skeleton crew, comprising mainly supervisory and longtime employes, have done their utmost to preserve your properties and as a part of this report a number of leases have been let, since the close of the year, in the deepr and mors remote parts of the mine. Skilled miners are often attracted to such independent operations and this procedure may salvage ore that will otherwise be lost, and defray, in part, the cost of keeping the mines dry and accessible.

A petition prepared and forwrded on June 6th, jointly by the company and the Mine Workers Protective League to the Secretary of the Treasury asking for relief in the form of a license to export newly mined gold, was denied July 10th as "being detrimental to the economy of foreign governments involved and contrary to the international financial and economic policy of the United States."

"Your company is required by law to sell any production it makes to the United States government at a fixed price, which under present conditions is less than our cost of production."

The Public Interest Comes First

Telephone Company Offers Arbitration of Wages

In recognition that the public interest comes first and to eliminate any reason for a telephone work stoppage which would be a disaster for the public, the company has offered to submit to arbitration the question of wages which is the fundamental issue in dispute.

A letter along the lines of the following is being sent to each union involved:

"Dear Sir:—"During the past month the company has met with you and with other union representatives to bargain on union demands for increased wage rates and for various other changes in working conditions..

"On wages which is the fundamental issue in dispute the company's position is that the wages it is now paying compare favorably with wages being paid generally in the area in which we operate for work requiring comparable skill and training.

"Since the company and the unions have a difference of opinion on this matter, the company is willing to submit the issue on wages to a board of arbitrators to be selected from a panel named by the U. S. Department of Labor.

"In fairness to all our employees, the offer to arbitrate the wage issue is being made to all unions with whom we have been in negotiations.

"This letter is a formal offer by the company to submit to arbitration by such a board the question whether or not basic wage rates now paid by the company should be increased, the amount of increase, if any, in starting and top rates, the length of progression schedules, the intermediate steps in such schedules, and locality differentials.

"The decision of the board of arbitrators shall be final and binding on the parties.

"This offer to arbitrate is made in recognition that the public interest must come first and upon the condition that strike notices filed by the unions you represent are withdrawn.

"We would appreciate an early reply"

Telephone employees, as is well known, have been fairly paid and well treated. Wage schedules have been increased several times in the last few years in addition to regular progression increases.

The employees have good working conditions, steady work, holidays and vacations with pay, sickness benefits and pensions.

The company believes that the present contracts are liberal and is willing to renew them.

The union's demands, if granted, would cost the company, and ultimately the users of the service, about $100,000,000 annually. This is equivalent to—

$45 per year per telephone subscriber

40 per cent increase in all telephone rates.

By any reasonable comparison, telephone employees are doing all right.

That's the way we want it. But the public has a stake in the issue.

The company is already before regulatory bodies to obtain increases to meet current costs and major additional wage costs must be reflected in still higher rates.

The company wants to be fair—fair to the employess, fair to the public who buy this service and fair to those who went in the business.

We believe that the present contracts, which we are willing to renew are fair but since there is a difference of opinion between the company and the unions and believing it to be in the public interest we have made this offer to arbritrate.

WINDOW DEDICATED TO ENGLEBRIGHTS' MEMORY

NEVADA CITY: The rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Reverend Angus Miller, last Sunday dedicated the stained window in the memory of the Hon. William F. Englebright, Kitty F. Englebright and the Hon. Harry L. Englebright, at the morning service.

The words of dedication were as follows:

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, amen.

"At all times throughout the history of the early church even to the present time it has been the custom to proclaim the church's activities by signs, symbols, plaques and memorial windows. Such instruments not only adorn and beautify the church but they teach us to remember the reason for their being; such is the fact today. This beautiful window presented by William H. Englebright, A. H. Englebright, Mrs. Harry Lane Englebright and Harry J. Englebright to the memory of the Hon. William F. Englebright, Kitty F. Englebright and the Hon. Hrry Lane Englebright is ever a reminder of the life they led, the work they did and the help they gave to Trinity Church. We of Trinity Church know too well this fact, and their benevolence cannot be overestimated. I therefore dedicate this window to the Glory of God as a sign and symbol of the life and work of those whose names are hereon. Amen. Immediately following the dedication the doxolog was sung.

"Praise God, from whom all blessings flow;
Praise Him, all cretures here below;
Praise Him above, ye heavenly host;
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost." Amen.

Mrs. Carl Libby directed the choir.

Meat and Vegetable Recipes That Use Up Stale Bread

By BETSY NEWMAN

THAT we, as a nation, are said to be wasteful is well-known.

Some of us still are inclined to throw away our bread crusts and stale bread; but most experienced housewives make it a point of pride to make use of every bit of food that comes into their houses. Bread has been the target for many critics who accuse housewives and their households of wastefulness.

Stale bread, or bread to be used before it turns stale, can be used in a good many dishes, and I'm giving you recipes for some today.

Today's Menu

Bread-Cheese Souffle or
Bread and Meat Souffle
Hashed Brown Potatoes
Escalloped Tomatoes and Cabbage
Cake Tea or Coffee

Bread-Cheese Souffle

2 tbsp. shortening or margarine
4½ tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
Dash cayenne pepper
1½ c. milk
¾ c. grated processed cheese
3 egg yolks, beaten
1½ c. soft ½-in. bread cubes
3 egg whites

Melt shortening in small saucepan, blend in flour, salt and cayenne; add milk and cook until thick. Add cheese and stir until cheese melts. Gradually add cheese sauce to beaten yolks, add soft bread crumbs and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry and fold into cheese mixture. Pour into greased 1½ qt. casserole, set casserole in a pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 F.) for 1 hour. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Bread and Meat Souffle

2 c. ground, cooked meat
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
4 egg yolks, beaten
2 tbsp. shortening
¼ c. chopped onion
1½ c. milk, scalded
3 c. soft ½-in. bread cubes
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine meat, salt, pepper and beaten egg yolks. Melt shortening in a small skillet, add onion and cook 5 min. Pour scalded milk over bread cubes. Combine meat mixture with bread and milk. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased 1½ qt. casserole. Set casserole in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 1 hour. Serves 6.

Escalloped Tomatoes and Cabbage

3 tbsp. shortening
1¼ c. dry bread crumbs
½ medium head cabbage, coarsely shredded
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
⅛ tsp. celery salt
1 tbsp. finely minced onion
1 can No. 2 tomatoes
½ c. grated cheese

Melt shortening in skillet, add dry bread crumbs and brown. Add salt, pepper, celery salt and minced onion. Cook shredded cabbage for 5 min. in boiling, salted water; drain. Alternate layers of tomatoes, cabbage and crumb mixture in greased 1½ qt. casserole with crumb mixture as top layer. Sprinkle grated cheese over top and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 25 min. Serves 6.

Parent Problems

Playing With Other Children

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

I MUST hear and read about many little savages no older than two or three. Here is an example:

"Dear Dr. Myers:—My 3½-year-old daughter has for the past year and a half been so mean in playing with other children that their mothers have asked me to keep her away from them.

"She plays very nicely alone and has a vivid imagination. She is glad to have youngsters come, and for a few minutes all goes well—then she punches, kicks, hits, scratches, throws stones, and does things like taking away a toy or scribbling on their coloring and grabbing and tearing pictures they are cutting. She feels no guilt and frequently accompanies the crying child home.

Has Tried Everything

"I've talked quietly to her about it, I've taken her in from play, I've denied her a walk to the beach (a special treat), I've had her come in and sit facing the wall for ten minutes, and I've whipped her. Each time she's so sorry and really is going to be a good girl, but the performance is always repeated. It's reached the point where I can't take her where there are other children.

"She is an only child and has much love lavished upon her. She has a pet dog whom she treats like the children. I'm aware that I am guilty of losing my temper with her at least once a day and I know she hears "don't" too often.

Would Appreciate Advice

"I would appreciate your advice and am enclosing two self-addressed stamped envelopes for any bulletins that might help me."

Enclosing in her stamped envelopes the bulletins, "Your Child and His Playmates" and "How Teach Tot Meaning of No," I wrote her somewhat as follows:

You don't need scolding. You need help. Apparently you have tried very hard to guide that child well. But like thousands of other conscientious mothers you have been led astray by much that you have read or heard on child rearing.

Effective Punishment

You admit that you lose your temper and resort to punishment, even physical punishment. But you fool around and try useless measures so long before you do anything and you have no consistent program. A mere ten minute period of isolation from the other children she torments is just a mockery. It should be 20 or 25 minutes to be effective and it should be immediate and without exception.

What amazes me is that the problems you relate occur chiefly at your home and right in your presence. If you wish to get good results quit your vain attempt at explaining and do as follows: Connect strong discomfort instantly in that youngster every time you see her striking, scratching, kicking and the like, except, perhaps, in clear instances of self-defense. Be vigilant. The instant she is the aggressor bare her bottom and smack her with your bare flat hand on her bare thighs. Be sure it is a lusty stinging slap, no fleabite and never on her armoured bottom. Make sure this effective pain always follows the offense immediately. Praise her heartily for every instance of consideration for the other children. Read to her a great deal and continue to show her abundant affection when she is good.

32 COUNTIES TO EXHIBIT IN STATE FAIR

SACRAMENTO: Thirty two counties have given definite indications they will place exhibits of their agricultural and other products at the 1947 Califrrnia state pair to be held in Sacramento August 28 through September 7, fair directors were told at their March meeting..

In addition, nine more have made inquiries regarding exhibits, Kenneth Fry, exhibit supervisor, said.

The largest number of counties to exhibit at the fair in its 88 years was 29, in 1941 when the last fair was held. None have been held since then due to the war.

Fred H. Bixby of Long Beach, fair president announced committees for the 1947 show with director being named a chairman of at least one committee. W. S. Hillis of Madera heads two, finance and legislative.

A crystalline substance isolated from California Spanish moss has been added to the list of mateials that retard tuberculosis in laboratory tests on animals. None has yet shown an important retarding effect on the disease in human beings..

Nearly 4000 pounds of cultivated mushrooms are being prodiced monthly in the caverns of abandoned lime diggings near Great Barrington, Maine.

Commercial forests occupy 36 per cent of all land in the southern United States.

Advertising Pays

John Wanamaker, one of America's most famous and successful business men is credited with this sound advice:

"If there is one enterprise on earth that a quitter should leave alone, it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year until it exerts an irresistible power."

RESTORATION OF GOLD STANDARD DEMANDED

The following letter to the Wall Street Journal, submitted to the Nugget's editor by Fred F. Cassidy and C. Raymond Clinch, utters a protest against government seizure and sequestration of gold that every American should echo. The letter follows:

RECALL THE GOLD STANDARD

Editor, The Wall Street Journal:

It is most astonishing that when the enemies of civilization have openly declared their determination to destroy it, and have explained how they mean to do so, we who are to be destroyed deliberately further the program of ruin.

J. M. Keynes wrote: "Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing bases of society than to debase the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction."

What is wanted is a medium of exchange, that enters into every transaction as the unit of value and serves for an indefinite number of transactions.

The material used for money must be durable, divisible, incorruptible, portable, not easily imitated and found in nature in sufficient but limited quantity.

A dollar is a certain quantity of gold; it is so by definition of law. All the gold held by the government belongs by right and law to individuals citizens, who placed in on deposit originally; just so money in a private bank account belongs to the depositor. The value is in the metal on deposit, just as the value indivated by the warehouse receipt is in the goods. If it calls for. If it is said that anything will do for money, as long as people will accept it, why will not people accept "anything."

But if the paper currency is not actually redeemed on demand in real money (gold) because the immediate incumbents of political office refuse to honor the warehouse receipts, then what difference does it make whether the gold really exists or not?

In this question is a suggestion, an implicit assumption that seizure and sequestration of gold by governments does not or need not "make any difference" If that is true, why do governments seize gold? Unless it is imputed to a hoodlum idiocy, obviously it must make a difference.

There was once a government that really prohibited gold, kept none itself, in the belief that gold was bad for people. That was Sparta. But the Spartans believed that comfort, convenience, industry were bad and work was ignoble.

When paper currency is depreciated, the difference has to come out somewhere; and the main cut is in wages. The fact is that heavy government expenditures must always be taken from the working man's wages; there is no other possible source. But depreciation in currency comes out of wages immediately. Aside from the immediate loss the worker—the nation —is deprived of a repository of value. Whatever one gets, he cannot save any part of it for the future if it is in depreciable paper currency. Real money is the only means by which the citizens can have any independence. That is the difference it makes when the government seizes gold. It makes the citizen helpless..

If the gold standard is restored, the democratic nature of our republic will be restored far more than is possible from the corrtion of any other single New Deal enomity.

When the man in the street is able to ask and receivt gold from his bank, and his bank in turn can with confidence call on the U. S. Treasury to carry out its contract to redeem bills in gold there is a chance for every citizen to cast privately and in all security a vote of "lack of confedence" in the government. If many citizens decide to cast such a vote the banks draw gold from the Treasury and the newspaper headlines stand out.

STABLE NATION NEEDS GOLD

Moreover when it is a question of confidence or faith in a currency, the whole world is just one counting house and a whispering gallery. In Malaysia, in Asia, Africa, Europe, and in the Antipodes, the man in the street will move to back up the Main Street American, requesting gold for paper dollars and dollar bank balances.

Soon the papers and the commentators will tell of gold exports and there will bt more talk;; and more uneasiness and more unhappiness in governmental circles.

If gold withdrawals persist, the government will have to make its peace with the man in the street, Main Street, Threadneedle Street, and the other financial streets with commitments and promises through investment bankers he will trust hat will satisfy him that the unsound practices have stopped and that once more his money is "good as gold."

With the government the only legal owner of gold, it is literally true that the rest of us have nowhere to go. We are citizens servants and our officials are our masters, and the expression "public servant" decriptive of an era that is past.

CAMPTONVILLE NEWS

By MRS. J. D. RITTENHOUSE

Miss Nelda Stone celebrated her eighth birthday last Friday. Her guests enjoyed an hour of story telling on the lawn and then were served ice cream and birthday cake. Guests present were Albert and Floyd Rogers, Colleen, Claudia, Pat and Michael Brown, Dona LeBarr, Gene and Cleora Hanson, Kitty Lou and Roger Rittenhouse, Buddy Hines, Maryanne Williams and Nickey Stone.

The American Red Cross committee of Camptonville met Wednesday with Mrs. Clifford Williams as chairman. Other members on the committee are Mrs. Frank Pendola, Mrs. Clarence Hanson, Bert Masses and Mrs. Frances Bartsch. They canvassed Camptonville Saturday.

Carl Hummel was taken to an eye specialist in Sacramento last week to have a piece of glass removed from his eye. Mr. Hummel was working in the woods logging when a bit of wood broke his glasses and a fragment entered his eye. His condition is satisfactory and it is believed he will not lose his sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown are preparing to build a home this spring on the south side of Camptonville on Brooks Lane. They expect to move into a temporary home this summer which will later be a garage when their permanent home is completed.

Easter sunrise services will be held in Camptonville at 6 a. m. April 6th. The Downieville and Camptonville Children's Choirs will present several musical selections. The mixed octette of Camptonville will also sing. Services will be held on the hillside below the Clarence Hanson home..

HARLETH BROCK ORGANIZES RESERVE GROUP

NEVADA CITY: A Nevada County Chapter, Reserve Officers Association was instituted last evening at 8 o'clock in the National Hotel..

A large number of reserve officers in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps attended. Harleth Brock, made arrangements for the meeting and for securing a charter.

Authorization from the Sixth Army has been received establishing the 61st Composit Group of the Organized Reserve Corps,, with Col. Eugene W. Rideout of Marysville as commanding officer. The order of March 10th, 1947, automatically assigned to this unit all ORC officers of the ground arms and services of Nevada County most of whom are located in and around Nevada City and Grass Valley, and five other counties surounding Marysville.

The meeting last night was in conjunction with the activation meeting of the new Reserve Officers Association Chapter, for all air and ground reserves. The purpose of the ORC phase of the meeting according to Col. Rideout, is to organize a sub-composite group in the Nevada County area with a local staff and membership.

Comprising Reserve Officers, the membership is completely voluntary, Rideout said and it's personnel will serve without compensation.

Col. Rideout explained that similar composite sub groups are being formed in the 651st area to keep reserve personnel acquainted with up to date tactics and specialties required of a modern army, and therefore reduce the time necessary to mobilize and expand the army in the event of an emergency should one arise.

The group will be classified as a "class C" unit, Rideout stated, consisting of officers only and requiring one, and possibly two, "drills" a month. He said that to date no field training is contemplated for any reserves until the end of 1948.

Local levy for the school districts in the county was $170,976 for prewar 1941-42.

Statewide local tax levies for the school districts for 1946 are 27 per cent higher than they were in 1945. Levy this year is $167,940,697. Last year it was $131,965,112. War time low was $102,993,903 for fiscal 1943. Levy for prewar 1941 was $107,598,780.

TESTED FOR T. B.

NEVADA CITY: Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, school nurse, reported yesterday as a result of the campaign to give tuberculosis tests in Grass Valley and Nevada City last week. A total of 2500 persons took the test.

In Grass Valley in three days there were 1500 tested of whom were students. In Nevada City 800 were examined in two days, of whom 250 were students. In Truckee 100 were tested, 40 of whom were students.

Preventive treatment for diphtheria will be offered tomorrow in the elementary school between 10 and 12 a. m. Immunity can be obtained, Mrs. Hefelfinger said, by administering diphtheria toxoid, treating all infants 9 to 12 months of age, giving them a reinforcing dose of half the strength at intervals of 3 to 4 years during hildhood..
